The indictment issued by a

Manhattan grand jury against former President Donald Trump on Thursday will include more than 30 counts related to business fraud, according to CNN.

The indictment against Trump was first reported by the New York Times on Thursday, then later confirmed by Trump's attorneys and the Manhattan District Attorney's office.

The charges against Trump are not publicly known, as the indictment was filed under seal. However, CNN spoke with “two sources familiar with the case” who confirmed the more than 30 counts related to business fraud.

Manhattan District Attorney Alvin Bragg, who secured his position in office with the help of donations from Democrat mega-donor George Soros, has been investigating Trump for the alleged role he played in paying porn star Stormy Daniels $130,000 in hush money. Trump's former lawyer, Michael Cohen, claimed Trump pressured him to make the six-figure payment to Daniels on Trump's behalf.

A spokesperson from Bragg's office confirmed they are coordinating with Trump's attorneys to "coordinate his surrender to the Manhattan D.A.'s Office for arraignment on a Supreme Court indictment, which remains under seal.”

“Guidance will be provided when the arraignment date is selected,” Bragg’s office added.
