DEFENSE!

Everyone is at risk for blood clots! Even the healthiest athletes get blood clots, so it is important for EVERYONE to know the warning signs and how to decrease their risk.

If you have any symptoms, see your doctor as soon as possible.

The United States Centers for Disease Control and Prevention made an online post last Thursday announcing that anybody can get a blood clot, even if they are healthy and in peak physical condition. The post advised all Americans to watch out and defend themselves against “life-threatening blood clots.”

“#DYK that anyone can develop a blood clot?” wrote the CDC on Twitter. “Whether you’re an athlete or a fan, don’t let a blood clot ruin the big game this weekend. Learn how to protect your health.”

A small text entry featured on the CDC’s post image claims that “everyone is at a risk for blood clots,” and that “even the healthiest athletes get blood clots.”

Also included in the online post was a link to the CDC’s website, which describes and offers their definition of blood clots, medically defined as “Venous Thromboembolism.” A section at the link further points out that “10 to 30% of people will die within one month of diagnosis” with the condition.

Reactions to the CDC’s post were varied, with many indicating suspicion of the organization.

The topic of sudden deaths from surprise blood clots other potentially related conditions such as heart attacks has been more popular as of late, with many expressing concern over what appears to be an unusually large number of soccer players and other athletes who have suddenly collapsed or even died while playing a match.

Big League Politics has reported on other strange postings of the CDC in the past, including a stunning admission by a FOIA officer the agency has absolutely zero records of a person who is not inoculated for the Chinese coronavirus spreading the virus after a previous recovery from it.

Recently, an attorney from New York filed a Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request to the CDC with regards to how dangerous the unvaccinated were to the already-vaccinated, with particular emphasis on those who are unvaccinated but are survivors of the coronavirus. The specific request sought:

“Documents reflecting any documented case of an individual who (1) never received a Covid-19 vaccine; (2) was infected with Covid-19 once, recovered, and then later became infected again; and (3) transmitted SARS-CoV-2 to another person when reinfected”

To this request, the CDC responded by admitting that not only was there no documentation of such individuals but that the CDC does not even collect data of such instances, which would seem terribly odd to many given the supposed severity of this pandemic on public health as well as how the public has been repeatedly assured that taking a hastily-approved jab from the multi-billion dollar medical conglomerate of their choice was the only way to prevent the spread of the virus, in particular, their loved ones and those who are very likely to react severely to such an infection...

The reputation of the CDC and other similar three-letter US government agencies has continued to decline as the days go on, with many Americans no longer trusting their credibility after what some describe as repeated bouts of lies, deception, and politically corrupt behavior by the aftermentioned institutions.
